GRADUATING CLASS OF 1934

FOREWORD AND DEDICATION

The graduating class of 1934 had full charge of the graduation exercises of the 1934 Commencement of the Gunnison County High School. This was the thirty-first annual Commencement of the County High School and the forty-ninth annual Commencement of the Gunnison High School. The first class graduated from the District High School in 1885.

The theme of the program was "The History of Our High School". Five members of the class carried on the research and presented the talks reported in this monograph. All members taking part in the program and Principal H. T. Hatch are to be commended for their efforts in presenting an interesting program. The talks and charts are reprinted as prepared by the students.

This brief account of fifty-odd years of school history is respectfully dedicated to the Gunnison County Pioneers, who have always promoted good schools, and many of whom have served faithfully on boards of education.

To each person who contributed information toward the preparation of these talks, much credit is due. Only through a great amount of research, through office records and conferences with former teachers, pupils and board members, could this monograph have been written.

OUR GRADUATION

Parents and Friends:

The occasion for this gathering tonight is to celebrate the graduation of the Gunnison County High School senior class of 1934.

We have chosen for our theme for this Commencement "The History of Our High School." This includes its beginning, the different stages of its development, and its present status.

In behalf of the class of 1934, I wish to express our grateful appreciation for your interest in us and our school; also for your attendance here this evening, all of which enables us to count this the most important event of our lives.

Louis Ogden, the first speaker on the program, will discuss the history of the school organization in Gunnison, and he will be followed in turn by the other speakers in the order indicated on the program.

--Marjorie Gilmer

EARLIER SCHOOLS

As the first speaker on the history of the Gunnison High School, I should like to go back and trace the earliest beginnings of public education in Gunnison county and in the town of Gunnison.

I must confess that in gathering facts and information for this speech, I have developed a genuine interest in the program of public education in Gunnison county, also a permanent and everlasting respect for those pioneer teachers and school board members, who, through the passing years, have established the very secure foundation upon which our present excellent school system has been built.

The first school that I found record of was conducted in a log cabin built on "squatter's rights." This cabin was located on a ranch now owned by Mr. Frank Betz, retiring president of the Gunnison County School Board. The teacher, Miss Hotchkiss, taught this school during 1876-1877.

An old shoe shop on south Main Street was the site of the first school in the town of Gunnison. Then in 1877 a town company built a school building in west Gunnison and gave it to the town. The purpose of this donation was to encourage people to build in the west part of town.

Mr. A. O. Milner was appointed the first County Superintendent in 1877.

During the year 1879, the first School Board was elected, consisting of Mr. Frank Smith and Mr. E. T. Teachout. The second County Superintendent, Mr. Nathaniel Jennings, was elected in 1879.

The construction of the present Junior High School, located on Pine Street, was begun in 1880. It was completed in 1881.

School was discontinued in the building donated by the town company, and was started in the Pine Street building in the fall of 1880; but during the school term the building fell and had to be rebuilt in the summer of 1881. Various buildings around town were used to house the school during the reconstruction of the Pine Street building.

The School Board members responsible for the building of the Pine Street school were Mr. A. O. Milner, Mr. E. W. Burton, and Mr. E. F. Blachely.

Many events took place the following year, 1882. Two new school buildings, identical in construction, were put up. One was located in west town and the other in east town. However, the building in east town, known as the Colorado Street School, has been abandoned. Later the county commissioners purchased the west town building, and converted it into the County Hospital. The First National Bank and La Veta Hotel were also built in 1882.

In conjunction with the construction of these buildings, the first high school was organized by Professor W. A. Clarke; and Gunnison was made a second class district in the county. Before this, there had been no regular high school; and until the erection of the Pine Street building, the schools had been organized on a subscription basis.

After the organization of the District High School, classes for the lower grades were held in the east town, west town and Pine Street buildings, but the high school classes were carried on only in the Pine Street and east town buildings. Professor W. A. Clarke was made principal of the District High School after he had organized it in 1882. Miss Emma Fairchild was his assistant.

Mr. George Spratt was elected District Superintendent in 1882.

An interesting sidelight found in the school records at the county courthouse disclosed that Mr. Louis H. Easterly was made a member of the School Board of District Number 10 when it was organized in 1882, and has been a member continuously since that time, over a period of 52 years.

Records show that high school classes were moved from the Pine Street and east town buildings to the west town building, where the first County High School was organized, in 1902.

At this time Mr. Joseph Blackstock, Mrs. Mary A. Lawrence, Mr. E. M. McGregor, Mr. J. M. Flick and Miss Fannie Burnett filled the positions on the Board of Education that was credited with the organization of the County High School. Mr. W. A. Tucker was the last District Superintendent and the first County High School Superintendent.

In 1911, the Colorado State Normal School was organized, and the County High School was moved from the west town building to the Normal building. The combination of the two schools was effected in order to give the Normal School much-needed moral support. However, classes were conducted separately, although Normal School instructors taught both High School and Normal School classes. Additional opportunities were offered High School students in that they were given the privilege of taking part in all the extra-curricular activities of the Normal School.

Six years after the County High School was moved to the Normal School building, plans were laid for the construction of a County High School building to be located in the American Legion Park. The Board of Education which took the lead in making the proposal and in outlining plans for the new building included Dr. George Sullivan, Mr. A. L. Wilson, Mr. C. Budlon, Mr. J. M. Flick, and Miss Luella Johnson.

On February 8, 1917, this board met with Mr. W. C. P. Meddins, the High School Principal, and laid plans for a campaign for the purpose of raising $50,000 with which to build the high school. When this issue was voted on at the following election, there were enough votes cast by non-taxpayers, who were not supposed to vote on the bill, to defeat it. However, at the next election the bill carried by a large majority. This majority was very substantially supported by Crested Butte.

As a result of this election, two blocks of ground were bought where the American Legion Park stands today. Soon afterwards, however, the Normal School sold the county a building site for one dollar on the south end of the Normal grounds. The county then decided to build on the Normal School site, and later resold the ground that it had bought to the American Legion for $1100, the exact amount paid for the lots.

But as this was during the war, President Wilson asked that Gunnison county refrain from constructing the building, as the time, money and labor involved were needed to carry on the war.

Thus plans were dropped until 1920, when they were revived. An additional $100,000 in bonds were voted due to the fact that prices had risen.

Construction of the building began in 1921 under the Board of Education which consisted of Mr. T. W. Grey, Mr. Bruce Blackstock, Miss Helen Blackstock, Mr. Archer A. Miller and Mr. W. L. Curtis. It was completed in 1922, and school was opened in the fall of 1922.

This, in brief, is the story of 58 years of school organization in Gunnison and 49 years of high school organization in Gunnison.

In closing, I am glad to state that the Gunnison district schools and County High School have been and still are rated among the best schools in the state of Colorado.

The speakers who follow me will give you further information on other phases of the history of the Gunnison High School. Thank you.

--Louis Ogden

OUR GRADUATES

Friends, this evening we are presenting the history and work of Gunnison High School. My part in the presentation is the history of our graduates. To you, your friends and relatives who have graduated from Gunnison High School, the following facts, while largely statistical, will no doubt be of interest.

The commencement exercises tonight conclude the forty-ninth year of this high school. During this time 647 men and women have received their diplomas, signifying their completion of high school education at Gunnison High School.

The first graduating class, in 1885, consisted of only one person, Miss Eva Riggs, who is now a retired teacher living in Colorado Springs. From that year the size of the graduating classes has quite steadily increased. I have prepared a series of charts to clarify the statistics I have gathered. The first shows the increase by ten-year periods in the size of the graduating classes.

OF GRADUATING CLASSES

1895-04	XXXXXXXX
1905-14	XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX
1915-24	XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX
1925-34	XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

From 1885-94, there were 36 graduates. In the second period, 1895-1904, there were 38, with no noticeable increase. During the years 1905-14, there was a total of 93 graduates, showing an increase of 144%. In the fourth period, from 1915-25, the size of the graduating classes showed an increase of 140%. There were 202 graduates during these years. In the last period, 1925-34, there were 283 graduates, representing a growth of 43%.

The fact that almost five hundred of the 647 graduates of the entire fifty years graduated during the past twenty years, is caused by the widened curriculum, and the stabilization of the population in town and county.

The graph shows the variation in the number of undergraduates who have dropped. Various national and international elements have influenced the number of students who have dropped; and it is interesting as well as encouraging to note that during recent years the figures have noticeably decreased.

Considering the fact that more than 50% of these undergraduates moved away, the following figures are not out of proportion. From 1900-12, there was an average of 13 students who dropped. From 1912-17, the number increased to 25 students per year. The outbreak of the war and the lack of much stress on education then, as compared with today, are largely responsible for this augmentation. In 1918 to 1921, the numbers reached their greatest height, averaging 42 drops per year. The entrance of the United States into the World War was the chief cause. The post-war depression was also a factor. However, after the war, from 1922-24, the number decreased to 17 per year. When the great tide of prosperity came in 1925, the number of undergraduates dropped rose again to 31 each year. This continued until 1929. The abundance of money and jobs caused many of these students to leave school before graduation. From 1929-31, there was an average of 15 students per year who dropped; and from 1932-34, an average of only 2.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL LIFE, THEN AND NOW

Fellow classmates and friends: I shall continue the discussion of the development of our High School from the earlier times to the present, by bringing to your attention the broadening of school activities which is one of the vital factors of education.

During a period of 50 years of the history of the High School, many interesting changes have taken place in the attitude of parents and teachers toward the type of high school life carried on by the students.

In 1880 or 1890 it was a burden to attend high school. The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," expressed the situation of those old-fashioned times perfectly. The fact that high school curriculum consisted of classroom work only was one reason for its lack of appeal. The discipline in the old school was hard. The "whispering sticks" and "dunce-caps" were forms of punishment of earlier times. The whispering stick was a twig inserted in the mouth of the offender and tied at each end and around the head. The dunce-cap was a tall, pointed, paper cap, placed on the wrong-doer's head, and the unlucky student was made to stand in the corner before the entire class.

Fist fights were regular after school occurrences, and no day passed without two or three.

Two incidents showing the lack of real discipline in such schools, are: In the old Gunnison High School, which is now the Junior High School, the science laboratory was situated at the head of the stairs. The science teacher, who was not very well liked, was one day accidentally pushed over a boy kneeling at the head of the stairs. The teacher fell all the way down stairs. A principal who was not very popular, was driven to resign his position because of many annoyances by the students, one of which was the finding on his desk every morning of a deceased chicken. The illustrations given here are actual experiences as related by students who attended Gunnison County High School in earlier days.

The reasons for conduct of this kind are obvious. Lack of an outlet for surplus energy is one reason. That the students were forced to study poorly-written text-books, and were punished if they protested is another. That teachers were trained largely in handling subject matter rather than children, is a third reason.

In the early part of the 20th century attempts were made to reform this stiff and rigid school life through the Alumni Association. Its purpose was to encourage social life in the school. Though it succeeded to a small extent, most activities sponsored by this organization were for graduates. High school students, for the most part, attended public dances.

School life today resembles life in a typical community, except that it is placed on a boy's or girl's plane. Many student activities have been introduced into the high school which are both interesting and educational in their influence.

Musical organizations in Gunnison County High School were introduced about 1907. About 15 years ago a debate and public speaking program was begun. The Hi-Y Club and Girl Reserves, which represent the service club idea, were introduced about 1924. These were in turn followed by department clubs; i.e., Science Club, Language Clubs, Mineralogy Club and Journalism Club.

Later on, when the students assumed more responsibility, a Student Association was formed. This organization consists of the entire student body led by a president and other class officers elected by them. The Student Council, composed of members of each class, plays a large part in granting the students a part in school affairs. The Student Council introduces phases of youthful group life that teachers are likely to overlook. The final decisions regarding government and discipline rest, of course, with the faculty. The monitor system recently introduced helps to keep order in class room and study hall. Special privilege cards, another recent addition to the school government, permit the bearers certain privileges if they are good citizens and keep up their grade averages. In the home-room period coming events and vital questions are discussed. Student assemblies are arranged for and presented by the students.

Some special functions which add to the social life of Gunnison County High School are "G" day, school picnics, the senior picnic on Sneak Day, and the Junior Prom. There are also monthly high school dances sponsored by various organizations. Athletics, started in earlier days, are now well organized. Play is now more scientific. At one time the Gunnison football team, on arriving at Montrose, discovered themselves to be minus a player. An accompanying fan immediately donned a football suit and played with the boys. The game was practically over before he was discovered. Another incident which shows the lack of athletic organization in earlier days was the novel method of calling signals used by a Gunnison football team. It was during the Russo-Japanese war, and all signals used were the names of Russian generals.

Early records show the attitude of the students of the old high school days. These records show a great many dismissals from high school and a larger number of students dropping because of inability to do the work. A study of the records of the past ten years reveals the names of 19 students who were dismissed from high school for all causes, or an average of less than two students per year. Very few dropped out of school. High school life is too interesting now for them to quit. We are eager for vacation to come and equally eager for school to begin again. My findings in this study of early school life, contrasted with today's, make me very appreciative of what our High School has given me. I shall consider it a privilege and an obligation to share the responsibility of helping to maintain a good school system for those who will come after me. Thank you.

OUR STUDIES YESTERDAY AND TODAY

Patrons of the schools of today are unaware of the vast changes of the last decade in school life. There have been changes in the courses of study offered, in the types offered, in school discipline, and in teaching methods.

In 1885, when the first Gunnison County High School graduating class appeared, the courses offered were Latin, geometry, algebra, commercial arithmetic, grammar, writing, reading, and world history. There were no natural sciences, only one of the social sciences, no physical education classes, and no social clubs. The only music was singing by all the pupils when school took up at morning and at noon. Also, prayers were said and a chapter was read from the Bible at that time. The only recreation was outdoor sports after school hours. The teachers were very strict and punishment was frequent. The students were not allowed to choose their own subjects; the teacher told them what to take.

In 1886, two graduated out of a class of 10. Most of the students who didn't graduate, had to quit school because they couldn't do the work that was given them. Only a few could get through, as the work was very hard, and the judgment of the pupil's effort was left entirely to the teacher.

In 1888, a new subject was added, which was called "Time and the Duration of Time". It was lengthy and difficult, but everyone was required to take it.

In 1897, the courses offered were physiology, civil government, arithmetic, eclectic, reading, zoology, rhetoric, geometry, algebra, and Spencerian penmanship. The instruction was mostly in the three "R's". No arts were offered, no public speaking, no government study, no industrial arts, no home arts, and no advanced mathematics courses. The studies were the cause of failure. There were many things lacking.

Few subjects were offered and no choice was given. Everyone was required to take the same things. Therefore, only a small percentage was able to get through. Only the more brilliant ones could digest the difficult work. And, of course, the judgment of the achievement of the pupils' effort was left entirely to the teacher. There was no scientific method of teaching. The main principle was "Spare the rod, and spoil the child". It was simply a personal matter on the teacher's part, and grades were entrusted to her fair judgment. About this time the textbooks used were written by McGuffey--the first great public school educator.

In 1900, 38% of the school failed. Since then there has been improvement in every way. The subjects offered now can be achieved. There is a variety to suit the different personalities. If a student doesn't excel in one subject, he can take another that he likes and can accomplish. The subjects are interesting and appealing, and a deeper knowledge and more extensive education can be gained. Specialized subjects are taught. The complete courses offered in Gunnison County High School today are four years of English, social science, world history, American history, social and economic relations, general science, biology, chemistry, physics, algebra I and II, geometry, commercial arithmetic, applied mathematics, trigonometry, two years of Latin, two years of Spanish, journalism, two years of manual training, mechanical drawing, home economics, two years of typewriting, shorthand, art, harmony, library science, and public speaking. Three new courses were added this year--social and economic relations, library science, and public speaking. They are all very interesting and important. Social and economic relations teaches business conditions and international conditions of the modern world, and discusses vital problems concerning the family and the individual. Library science gives one a practical experience in library work and a more permanent appreciation of good reading material. Public speaking teaches one poise, good speech, and confidence, and gives students a better chance to rate in the rhetorical contests.

There are more people in school today and the results are better. For instance, in 1900 there were 63 in the first grade and 3 graduating from high school. The courses are more broadening and intellectual, and the interest is kept. The examinations are fair, impersonal, and test the knowledge of the individual mind, not the knowledge of the textbook. Students are taught a workable and practical knowledge. Classes are taken to court sessions and see in action the workings of the government and the rules of good citizenship enforced. Science classes are taken on field trips, and besides the fresh air and exercise, they see nature as it is and do not learn about it merely by seeing pictures in a book.

Physical education classes are also an important asset. Health is studied, cared for, and improved. There are corrective health classes which teach students how to get rid of flat feet, hollow chests, round shoulders, and poor posture.

The library is a very important assistance. Our library has been greatly enlarged and improved. There are now 1400 volumes, and each student reads, on an average, 20 books a year. Also, there are the newspapers and 22 magazines. In olden times, it was thought harmful to look at anything but a textbook during school hours. Now, however, it is realized that wide reading of magazines and fiction, as well as textbooks, has many good results. It relaxes the mind, broadens it, and presents a knowledge of actual happenings in the world.

The Honor Roll and National Honor Society are also conducive to study. The Honor Roll was started with the purpose of raising the standard of scholarship. A chapter of the National Honor Society was obtained for Gunnison in 1927. Its purpose is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character.

As one reviews these changes in our curriculum, one becomes appreciative of what our educators, school executives and boards have done to improve our schools. As a senior I feel that I am about to end the happiest time of my life which was spent during the four years that I have been in Gunnison County High School under able leadership.

Those of us who have presented these historical facts have done so in the hope that they might be of interest to those who have gone through the schools before us, and who have made possible our education; and that they might prove an inspiration to those who come after the class of 1934. Thank you.
